A WASHOITE ON SALT WATER.—The Enterprise has the following extract from an amusing letter writer:

The second day out from San Francisco the whistle suddenly sounded the alarm of fire. As you may well judge, this produced the wildest sort of confusion among the three hundred passengers on board, many of whom were in their berths, out of which they tumbled pell mell, mighty little particular as to whether they were dressed or not. The officers and men of the ship Golden Age rushed at once to their posts, and in two minutes there were a dozen streams brought into play, while men were stationed at the life-boats, ready to lower them at the word of command from the officers, who stood with their navy revolvers in their hands, to maintain discipline and enforce obedience. All this transpired while I was coolly getting ready to come on deck, when toot! toot! went the old whistle again, and now I made out to get up and take a look at the situation. I must observe that I felt a little mad when I found out that this was all a humbug alarm, and all this row and uncomfortable fuss was merely a portion of the regular drill and discipline of the ship in case of fire, arranged and provided. I forgave them, however, in view of the terrible contemplation of what the horrors of a real fire would be, away out on the big salt sea, where a fellow has no place to run to get out of the way. Were it not for this fire department and life boat arrangement, the chances are that he would have to roast, drown or paddle about in the salt water with a life preserver under his arms, till the infernal sharks had chawed his legs off. Ah! just about that time a yard square among the sagebrush on the side of old Mount Davidson would be a very desirable acquisition. A few days afterwards we ran full split into a big whale, with a heavy shock, which jarred every timber in the ship. I don't know what the big fish thought of it. He merely rolled up the white of his eye, shuck hisself and paddled off a little quicker than common—that's all; but I must confess that this collision scared me a heap more than the fire alarm did. Supposing that whale had given his huge tail a bit of a flop, and just naturally wiped the old steamer off the face of the ocean—which he could as well as not—where would I be now? Hey! how's that? That mighty fish was magnanimous he was.

REPORTED RICH DISCOVERY.—The Virginia Union says away to the southeast in our State is a vast and almost unknown country. From George Spofford, an old and well known citizen, we learn that there has recently been a number of rich ledges located beyond, and to the east of Death Valley, and in the Black Mountains. We were shown some of the ore, and certainly it is one of the most plethoric quality so far as mineral is concerned, horn silver being plentiful, and the entire quartz abounding in sulphurets. The ledges are from eight to thirty feet in width, and crop out prominently, being traceable for a long distance on the mountain side. The region is excellently watered and wooded. A stream capable of running one thousand stamps flows down the canyon and sinks in the desert, which is ready and eager to receive it. The Indians are very troublesome. One of Spofford's party was pierced with arrows, shot at him while going through a rocky canyon, causing almost immediate death. His name was James G. Sloan, a native of Illinois, and more recently of Marysville, Cal. His companions prepared a rude grave beneath the mourning pines, and there he sleeps. A party is to be formed for a return to the district, which has been christened "The Imperial," and as soon as the weather will permit, they will start with tools, provisions, guns, ammunition, etc., to prospect that almost unknown land, which may yet teem with civilization and be the garden of industry of Nevada.

SHIPMENT OF BULLION.—The Virginia Union, after publishing a carefully prepared report of the shipment of bullion, thus comments upon it:

From Virginia alone we have shipped nearly eight millions of dollars within the twelve months just past. The larger part of the bullion from the Gold Hill mines is not included in this report, and we may safely estimate the shipments from Storey county alone to exceed the enormous sum of twelve millions of dollars, and the balance of the State at one-half that amount, or six millions, making a total of eighteen millions produced by a State not yet three years old; and, besides, one that has hardly commenced to develop her mineral resources. In making a calculation of the vastness of our wealth and increasing importance as producers of that staple of the world's commerce, we will say that in 1861 our bullion product was but three millions of dollars. A pace of five years, and we increase to eighteen millions. As the increase has been steady, we may safely predict that in 1872 we shall produce at least fifty millions of bullion for the use of the world. A great future is before us, and our vision brightens with the hope of coming years.

A SECOND DANIEL.—Mr. Jacob Loucks, a respected citizen of Manchester Township, York county, Pennsylvania, and supposed to be the largest man in the country, died of apoplexy, at the age of 57 years. He was exceedingly corpulent, and was supposed to weigh about five hundred pounds at the time of his death. His coffin measured thirty-five inches in breadth by twenty-three in depth. His weight was not far from that of Daniel Lambert, of Leicestershire, England, which is given as five hundred and twenty-eight pounds, and who is said to be the largest man in the world.

NEWSPAPERDOM.—There is talk of a new paper in New York as big as the London Times, to be conducted by Frederick Hudson, formerly of the Herald. Charles H. Sweetser proposed soon to issue a new evening paper. There is a scheme also to change the Citizen into a daily reform paper, and Dana's projected two-cent morning journal still hangs fire. Another change has taken place in the New York News, and it is to be "published by the Daily News Association." It is generally understood that the Hon. John Morrissey has taken a large interest in the paper.

O. W. MANTER, clerk in the post-office at Osage, Mitchell county, Iowa, has been arrested on a charge of opening letters. The letters were found on his person, their contents abstracted. No reason can be assigned for the crime, as he is the son of a wealthy citizen of Boston, was recently married, and had large sums of money in bank.

Salt Lake City, November 5, 1866.

The Anti-Polygamy Law.

It will, perhaps, strike people outside of Utah, with something akin to astonishment to learn that on Thursday last there passed both Houses of our Territorial Legislature a solemn Memorial to Congress, asking the repeal of what is known as the Anti-Polygamy law. While the adoption of this Memorial just at this time, when Congress is supposed to be engaged in perfecting measures to enforce that hitherto disregarded and openly defied Act, is not only a bold flank movement, but savors decidedly of irony and sarcasm. It will be remembered that in 1862 Congress enacted a law prohibiting bigamy and polygamy in the Territories, just as they are prohibited in every civilized country in the world, and affixed penalties for its violation. This Act has always been a dead letter in Utah. Not only have its provisions been totally disregarded, but its violation undisguisedly advocated as a religious duty. That the Mormon people, under the dictation of their leaders, are a "law unto themselves," has never been more fully exemplified than in this very matter of polygamy.

The laws of Congress, so far as Utah is concerned, have very much the same effect (or rather want of effect) as did those of the Continental Congress under the old Articles of Confederation on the States. They are regarded as the emanations of very patriotic gentlemen, conveying sometimes very good recommendations, to be obeyed or recognized whenever it suits the convenience or caprice of those to whom they are directed. This polygamy law not precisely suiting this latitude and the necessities of the Church leaders, is treated with supreme contempt, and openly defied. And now, after a five years trial of the efficacy and potency of the Government to prevent, if not suppress, the darling doctrine of plurality, the Legislature with a coolness which has ice in it, and a sang froid which is truly refreshing, tells Congress that it had better wipe out the obnoxious statute and preserve something of the appearance of respect due from the citizen to the law. Just why the Legislature should petition for the repeal of the law, we are at a loss to see. It has certainly not been a source of any inconvenience to them. Marrying and giving in marriage has gone on under its operations with a perfect looseness. Sealing has neither been estopped nor even checked. On the contrary, the bishops and elders have seemed to take a special delight in showing to their flocks in how great contempt they held this "most monstrous law," and polygamy from being recommended as a very good thing, has come to be set up as a "test of fellowship."

It is just possible that when Mr. Delegate Hooper presents this modest Memorial it may occur to Congress that it would have come with far better grace if the provisions of the law had been at all respected, while it has been on the statute book; but that having defied it, as well as Congress, for five long years, the petitioners can now wait a year or two longer before being relieved of the quasi condemnation which the existence of the law on the statute book indicates. When, however, Congress shall conclude to expunge this merely moral lecture from the statutes at large, it is to be hoped that it will also render a suitable apology to President Young for the attempted infringement on his rights by their predecessors of the 38th Congress.

If the Legislature of Utah will appoint a committee to obtain additional signatures to their Memorial, we have very little doubt they can get every Gentile in the land to unite with them. The law in Utah is not only a sublime farce, but the impunity with which it is daily violated, is a disgrace to the nation, and brings the name, and honor, and laws of the country into utter and unmitigated contempt. Every man feels that his Government is degraded by retaining among its laws, one that is daily spurned and spit upon. The sentiment is universal, that the Anti-Polygamy Act should either be enforced or repealed, and in this view the course of the Utah Legislature is eminently and commendably practical. As Brigham, in his sermons and newspaper publications, lays great stress on the fact that the Gentiles disregard the laws (of his making) and seems to view that, in itself, as a very heinous offence, we have no doubt that it grieves him sorely to be compelled to violate the law of 1862, notwithstanding his entire immunity from the penalty. But, if this argument should not strike Congressmen with much force, it is to be hoped that they will repeal the law, that the nation may no longer be brought into contempt and disgrace by a constant daily enforced violation of its letter and spirit. The penal laws of the United States in Utah, on this subjects, are as sickly fulminations as the Pope's Bulls, and their violation meets a far greater immunity than does disregard of Brigham's "counsel," among not only those who acknowledge his priesthood, but all within the limits of his temporal jurisdiction. We think the Utah Legislature is about right. Let the Anti-Polygamy farce be repealed—or enforced.

HENRY KEEP, the new President of the New York Central Road, is a native of Jefferson county, New York. Left an orphan at an early age, he went to Rochester to seek his fortune, at first driving team for seven dollars a month. In 1837, he began in a small way to act as a broker in city shinplasters. Afterwards he commenced buying up Canada money at a discount, and presenting it for redemption. Accumulating a small fortune in this way, he invested it in railroad stocks, and thus became one of the railroad barons of the country. He controls the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana railroads—of which he is Treasurer, and also the Cleveland and Toledo Road. Mr. Keep is said to be a rigid economist in the management of business.

He secured the diamonds in safety in the Bank of New York; recently Noel sent to Faxon for the key to the vault so that he might change the place of deposits. Faxon sent the key. Noel and the diamonds have not been heard from since. Faxon failed in consequence.

The Times says the tariff bill reported to the Senate yesterday is in substance Wells', and will be substituted for the House bill passed last summer. The principal changes are as follows: Salt, saleratus. The House bill has no increase on flaxseed and linseed oil; importation of fire-crackers forbidden; hemp and flax unchanged. Hardware advanced; Wells' rates on cotton goods adopted, except tape and ribbons, advanced to fifty per cent. Drug list same as Wells'. Wool same as House bill. Dye stuffs free.

New York, January 11.

The Post's Washington special says that the New Orleans riot commission will not report for several weeks. It is reported that they have discovered evidence that the massacre was premeditated, and that the guilty parties have not been punished. The members of the commission describe the persecution of Union men in Louisiana as perfectly relentless.

The Tariff bill will pass the Senate without material amendment.

A Washington special to day says: Colonel Forney makes the following threat in a leading editorial: If the existing conflict is not terminated by impeachment, it will end in war.

The total imports for 1866 sum up three hundred millions in foreign gold value.

Additional Senate: Among the provisions of the bill to regulate office is one declaring that any person who shall accept any appointment to office shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and fined $10,000, or imprisoned five years, or both. Every removal or appointment made, held or exercised contrary to the Act is also made a high misdemeanor, and the same punishment awarded. The Secretary of the Senate shall deliver to the Secretary of the Treasury, at the close of each session, a full list of all persons nominated by the President and rejected by the Senate.

The consideration of the bill relating to the tenure of office was resumed.

House—Mr. Hubbard asked leave to introduce a resolution appointing a select committee to inquire into the deficiency of the rifled guns. Objected to.

Mr. Bidwell offered a resolution to inquire into the expediency of having the mail service performed by steamer between San Francisco, Astoria and Portland, Oregon.

The Speaker presented a communication from the Secretary of War, respecting claims presented to the Quartermaster General by the citizens of Indiana for horses seized by the United States authorities in July, 1863. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. The appropriation for the Agricultural Department being reached, the usual discussion sprung up, and the Committee, coming to no conclusion, rose, and the House adjourned at 4 o'clock.

Washington, January 11.

The Tariff bill was reported from the Finance Committee by Senator Fessenden. The Committee adopted Chandler's bill as a basis with the amendments and present substitute for the House bill to adopt the rates of the House bill on wool and woollen goods, and the classifications of the House bill on iron a slight increase of the rate on iron above those suggested in Wells' report. The free list is substantially the same report.

A resolution was introduced, inquiring relative to horses taken in Kentucky during Morgan's raid, stated that the number of claims were seventy-six, amounting to $71,117, only twenty were referred to the Auditor for settlement, which amounted to $2,225. Thirty-eight required additional vouchers, having nothing to show the number of horses seized.

Chicago, January 11.

The next Congress will convene at noon on the 4th of March.

The House passed the bill before the holidays, and the Senate took it up during the morning hour yesterday; made a slight amendment, and passed it 26 to 10. It was sent to the House in the course of half an hour, and that body at once agreed to the Senate amendments. The bill will be laid before the President to-morrow. Many expect its veto.

Mr. Wade called up, in the Senate, a bill, amending the Organic Acts of the Territories, and offered a substitute.

Mr. Howard suggested some changes, and the substitute was then adopted without division—that is, in one short section, which declares that henceforth, that in any Territory, now organized, or hereafter to be organized, there shall be no denial of elective franchise on account of race or color, and the previous condition, slavery, and all Territorial laws in conflict with this act, are hereby declared null and void. The bill was at once put on passage without debate.

Mr. Foster voted for the bill. Messrs. Dixon and Doolittle did not vote at all.

As soon as it could be enrolled it was sent to the House, where it laid on the table half an hour; it was then taken up, and, under the operation of the previous question, passed without debate by 104 to 38. The bill was at once engrossed, and in about two hours from the time of its introduction in the Senate, it had passed both Houses, received the signature of the Speaker and Vice President, and was ready for the White House. It is not supposed that the President will veto it.

Harrisburg, Pa., January 11.

Legislature adjourned till Monday.

The bribery and corruption of the Committee's report did not give a particle of evidence elicited to show guilt, or even imprudence, on the part of any candidate of United States Senatorship, and that those who made the charges had failed entirely to prove them.

INDIAN OUTRAGES.—From the Colorado Register we learn the following particulars in relation to the recent attack on Sweetwater:

A few days since we received accounts of the massacre of ninety men a Fort Phil. Kearny. To-day we are compelled to record another. The telegraph operator informs us that on Wednesday the Indians came upon the station at Sweetwater, and told those there that they intended to kill them. The operator at once telegraphed to Platte Bridge, or Fort Casper, for help, and soon after telegraphic communication was broken. Ten soldiers were started out for the relief of Sweetwater, and when within ten miles of there they found murdered in the road a man who had been stopping at Sweetwater, and immediately afterwards the party were attacked by a band of fifty Indians, who overpowered the soldiers and drove them back. On yesterday (Thursday) another party of fifty soldiers was sent from Platte Bridge to reconnoitre Sweetwater, but have not yet been heard from. It is supposed that the whole party at Sweetwater were killed, and that the dead man found in the road was murdered while attempting to escape, or while a prisoner in their hands. When will Government have as much sympathy for white men as for these red devils? Oh, for a Chivington or a Connor to deal with them!

GENERALS STEVENS AND LEE.—The following is related in a letter to the San Francisco Bulletin by their Oregon correspondent:

In the spring of 1861, the late Gen. Isaac I. Stevens returned to this coast from Washington, and after being defeated in the Democratic Convention of Washington Territory for the nomination for Delegate to Congress, he returned to the East and joined the Federal army, where he rose to the rank of Major-General, and met his death at Chantilly, Va., September 1, 1862. During a visit to Portland, before going East, he gave expression to a criticism upon General Robert E. Lee which, while perfectly illustrating his own self-confidence, appears, in the light of subsequent events, almost prophetic as to Lee. Walking hurriedly to and fro in the room of a friend, and doubtless musing on the death or distinction which he had determined to win, he exclaimed: "I know Lee well. He is slow; but as certain as mathematics. Give him time to prepare and mature his plans and no man on the continent can whip him, except by exhausting him." Then stopping short and suddenly looking up, said, "But I can whip him; I would not give him time to get ready."

NEVADA LEGISLATURE.—Both Houses assembled on Monday, the 7th inst., and completed their permanent organization. The following are the officers: Senate—President pro tem., C. A. Sumner, of Storey county; Secretary of the Senate, B. C. Brown; Sergeant-at-arms, M. M. Gaige; Enrolling Clerk, A. J. Williamson; Engrossing Clerk, J. D. Gorham; Chaplain, Rev. M. Stemp; Official Reporter, W. M. Cutter. The Secretary announced his appointments as follows: John R. Eardly, Assistant Secretary; J. P. Coolidge, Minute Clerk; D. P. Walter, Journal Clerk, John C. Medley, Copying Clerk. In the Assembly R. D. Ferguson, of Storey county, was elected Speaker, and Thomas V. Julien, of Lander, Speaker pro tem.; Chief Clerk, Andrew Whitford; Sergeant-at-arms, William R. Woodhurst; Assistant, S. A. Moulton, Minute Clerk, T. T. Davenport; Enrolling Clerk, A. D. Bell; Engrossing Clerk, Mr. Thomas, of Lander county; Journal Clerk, W. G. Gates; Chaplain, Rev. F. A. White.

THE MONT CENIS TUNNEL.—It is estimated that the number of holes to be drilled by the rock-boring machines in the Mont Cenis tunnel, before the work is completed, is about 1,600,000. The total depth of these holes when bored will amount to about 4,255,890 feet, which is 105 times the length of the tunnel. Nearly 13,000,000,000 blows will be struck by the perforators to do this work. The entrance to the tunnel on the French side is 3,946 feet above the level of the sea, and its termination on the Italian side 4,380 feet, so that the actual difference of level between the two extremities is about 434 feet.

THE MINT.—The report of the Superintendent of the Mint shows the gold, silver and copper coinage from 1793 to 1866 inclusive, is $987,500,000. The gold coinage was about $845,500,070: the silver, $136,333,333.33: and the copper, $5,500,000. The total coinage of the branch mint at San Francisco during the first eight months of 1866 was $9,642,000 of gold, and nearly half a million of silver. As there was a subsequent increase, the Director thinks the business of the year will be fully up to the average.

SALT.—Messrs. Winnegar & Shaw, of San Francisco, are preparing samples of Arizona and California salt for the Paris Exhibition.

PARTING GOLD AND SILVER.—In the report of the Director of the Mint, a complimentary reference is made to certain important improvements in the mode of parting gold and silver metal, and introduced by Andrew Mason, Esq., smelter and refiner in the New York Assay Office. The improvements are to be introduced into all the branch mints. These are of general interest to the refining establishments. It consists, first, in so adjusting the melts for granulation that the fine gold, instead of gold bullion, shall constitute one-third of the mixed metal; and secondly, in boiling the gold in strong sulphuric acid, after one treatment in nitric acid. The one charge of nitric acid is to be made longer than the first in the old process, but twenty per cent. less than the amount in both, while the consumption of fuel is greatly reduced and much disagreeable labor removed. It is estimated that the saving in one year's business would amount to $70,000, rating the cost of mining in California at 50 per cent. greater than in New York.

A CRISIS IN THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—The Low Church party in the English Church seem at last to be waking to the perils by which they are surrounded. Speaking of the ritualistic movement and its rapid development, a late number of the London Record says:

The natural fruit of all this movement is rapidly ripening, and, seriously speaking, it appears that unless some remedy be promptly and vigorously applied, the Church of England must go to pieces. Once let it be admitted that her law is powerless, and that its plainest intentions may be openly violated, and her coherence as a State Church is lost, and what the Dean of Capetown, at York, called her "nationality," destroyed. The fruit is the open repudiation of her laws, on the one side, and the alienation of the nation's confidence and affection, upon the other.

CURIOSITIES WANTED.—A bunch of blossoms from a railway plant; the topmost bough of an axletree; a crust from the roll of the ocean; a feather from the crest of a wave: some quills from the wings of the wind; a lock of hair from the head of a column; a hoop from the pale of society; the knife used by ringers when pealing bells; a broom for sweeping assertions; a collar for a neck of land; a quizzing glass for an eye to business; a rocker from the cradle of the deep; a few tears from a weeping willow; and some down from the bosom of the lake.

MORE READING.—We have received from J. Strattman, of San Francisco, Godey's and Herper's Monthlies for January, the New York Ledger, Litery Album, Chimney Corner, and Harper's and Leslie's Illustrated Weeklies. These are but a few of the many choice gems to be found at the Major's Literary Emporium of the Pacific Coast.

The Daily Union Vedette

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer daily newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, (to which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most advantageous medium for advertising in these four central Territories.

FIRE.—About twelve o'clock on Saturday night the alarm of fire was given, and but for the fact that it was theatre night, and many persons had not retired to their beds, might have proved serious. The fire originated in an unfinished building, west of the City Drug store, and adjoining the one known as the Thurmond building. For a while it was feared that in consequence of the absence of water (our city streams being frozen up) it would be a difficult task to arrest the flames. Had it not been for the almost superhuman efforts of Mr. H. M. Taylor, a well known resident of this city, who without hesitation entered the burning building through the window and at the risk of his life cut his way through several partitions until he reached the spot where the fire was raging. The fire, which no doubt was the work of an incendiary, was started under the side ceiling of the unfinished house and ran through the ceiling between the first and second story of Mr. Thurmond's building, which rendered it difficult to reach in order to extinguish it. A number of well known citizens used every energy in their power to arrest the progress of the fire, and at last succeeded, by establishing a line by which buckets of water were passed from the well in the rear of the new restaurant, in Mr. Savage's building. The principal loser is Mr. Thurmond, whose building was injured to the amount of six or seven hundred dollars; not insured. The drug store of Dr. Clinton was at one time in imminent danger, but the fire was checked in time to save it, and the loss by removal of a portion of his stock was comparatively small. Mr. Taylor, to whom all praise is due for his exertions to stay the fire, was injured, though we are pleased to learn, not as seriously as was at first supposed. His hands were burned, and his ankle sprained, but he suffered most from suffocation, by the inhaling of a great quantity of smoke, which produced a fit, in which he lay for some time quite insensible, but he received medical assistance immediately, and the many kind friends who were on the spot rendered him all the aid in their power; he was conveyed to his hotel that night, and we are pleased to know that he was out yesterday and suffering only from the lameness of a sprained ankle. Various are the speculations as to the motive of the incendiary, as drugs, medicines and lawyers' books are not generally food for thieves. The general conclusion is, that the object was to select a place where the combustible materials of the buildings would insure a large conflagration, and that as a fire is a novelty in our city, the attention of the whole community might be attracted away from the place of intended depredation. It appears to us that it is high time that some move is made by those interested in the community as owners of buildings, by organizing themselves into a fire company for their own protection. Should a fire occur during the prevalence of a high wind, there is no calculation as to the extent of the immense loss and destruction of property that would ensue. Those interested should look to it in time.

POSTAL MATTERS.—We have received a communication from Mr. Stein in relation to our remarks on postal affairs at the office in this city. We do not publish it for two reasons: First, we have not space to insert that, and our own explanations; and secondly, we have no desire to give publicity to what we neither said, nor meant. Our article has been misconstrued by some whose nerves are a little too sensitive. We never reflected in a single word on the "reliability" of any of the employes of the office; we never for a moment questioned their integrity or honesty. We did say that the allowance by Government was not sufficient to permit the employment of persons whose age and experience qualified them to perform the duties in a thorough manner. No one expects that young and inexperienced persons can so well perform the duties of any position equal to those who by long practice have made themselves familiar with the duties, and thus enable them to execute in a shorter space of time the duties which those less familiar cannot perform. We meant no one in particular in our article at the time we wrote; we knew the name of but two in the office. We are free to confess, that in our conversation with Mr. Stein, he frequently expressed his confidence in the integrity of his clerks, and that they done the best they could; also that he had received several complaints, but as they were not sufficiently definite he could not notice them. Our article did not express "unjust suspicion," "unkind aspersion" or "unmerited censure," and the whole tenor of the article was to lay the blame upon Government. Had we felt disposed to give publicity to the many remarks which came to our ears, we might have said some very unpleasant things, but as we were not actuated by any such motive, we did not repeat what we had frequently heard, and for the same reason that actuated Mr. Stein—the lack of pof. For the present we drop the subject, and hope we shall not have to refer to it again, either by way of explanation or complaint.

ISRAELITE WEDDING.—We were permitted to witness yesterday the very interesting and solemn marriage rites of a Jewish couple. At the Eureka House the numerous friends and invited guests assembled at the hour appointed, and at 3 o'clock the religious Hebrew service was commenced by Mr. Reuben, who performed his duties as if he understood them. After the conclusion of devout exercises, the bride and groom, attended by their relatives and most intimate friends, entered the room. The happy couple were stationed under a canopy, supported by four young men. Mr. J. M. Ellis, the well known merchant of this city, then proceeded to solemnize the marriage in accordance with the established forms of the Jewish Faith. The contract was read, and at a certain point of the ceremonies, a glass was dropped by the bride, and as it fell upon the floor, broke into a number of pieces. The groom crushed the broken glass with his heel, and the two were declared man and wife. This breaking of the glass is in accordance with an ancient Jewish custom. An hour after the ceremonies were finished the entire guests sat down to a sumptuous repast. Wine and wit flowed rapidly, and all seemed happy. At the banquet Mr. J. M. Ellis, being called upon, rose and in a most lucid and eloquent manner explained to the party present, who were composed of our principal merchants, officers and others from Camp Douglas, and numerous representatives of various professions in this city, law, physic and the press, the importance of the marriage ceremony among the Jews, as well as the ceremonies with which it was viewed in a religious point of view. After the conclusion of his intelligent and impressive remarks he pronounced grace in Hebrew, and the party adjourned to reassemble at eight o'clock, when the Goddess Terpsechore reigned supreme all night, e'en till the small hours of morn, when after renewed congratulations to the bride and groom, all separated, wishing worlds of happiness to the newly married couple.

CU I U.—A contemporary exults over the sentence of one Paul Harrison, an apostate to the Mormon faith, who has been sentenced to one year's hard labor for "bigamy," and says: "Upwards of sixteen years ago he was excluded from the Church of the Saints, and a warning, under the heading of 'Beware of the Apostate's Doom,' was published concerning him. * * * The Saints can read the prophecy, uttered by the editor, against this wretched man, and then compare his present degraded position with the prediction, and learn that the kingdom of God is not to be trifled with by miserable apostates, without bringing upon themselves richly deserved punishments." If one year's hard labor for "bigamy" was a deserved punishment, how many years would he deserve for polygamy?

WANTED.—Cash paid for old door and padlock keys, etc., at J. R. Sumner's second hand store. 4t
